Major in real estate added to curriculum

The University of Omaha is one of seven universities in the United States to offer a Bachelor of Science Degree with a specialization in real estate.

The university added three courses to its curriculum to establish the major. They are Real Estate Law, Real Estate Development and Management, and Real Estate Appraisals.

"We are getting excellent support and encouragement in this venture from the Omaha Real Estate Board," said John W. Lucas, dean of students. "Many real estate men are encouraging the young men, and even older men, in their businesses to take these courses to prepare themselves for advancement," he added.

T. H. Maenner, an Omahan and president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards, revealed that OU was one of the select universities to offer the courses in a letter to Dean Lucas.

Robert C. Hasings, president of the Omaha Real Estate Board, wrote that offering these courses is a "forward step" by the university and for Omaha.

C. B. Stuht, chairman of the Education Committee of the Omaha board, has volunteered any assistance to make the venture a success.

Real Estate Law has already been added to the School of Adult Education this semester. The other two new courses will be offered next fall in night school and probably day school, depending upon the demand.

Principles and Practices of Real Estate has been offered for some time in night school.

Courses in sales, finance, insurance, and advertising will be suggested electives to round out the Real Estate major.

Joiner composed school song for Peru State, too

Omaha University Indians of the tribe, Omaha University out to get your hide.

We're gonna add a scalp tonight, Make some history, Hit 'em again, we're gonna win, Get a victory. O!

We're gonna win our game tonight for Omaha, We're going out and really fight for Omaha.

Omaha never quits the fight, no matter what the score, Hit 'em again, Hit 'em again, Fight for Omaha.

These are the lyrics of OU's new fight song by O. W. (Ollie) Joiner.

The song was chosen at Thursday's joint convocation-pep rally.

Joiner seems on his way to becoming a pro—he is also com-

Ollie Joiner . . . becoming a pro. poser of a fight song for Peru State Teachers College, Peru, Neb.

A native of Nebraska City, he is now music instructor at Rippey Consolidated School, Rippey, Ia. He is married and has a six-year-old daughter and a two-year-old son.

Joiner graduated from Peru in January of this year. He was a member of "Who's Who In American Colleges and Universities" for two years.

Led 'Goldbricks'

During the war he spent 33½ months with the Air Force, "most of it with the Eighth." While overseas he led a 13-piece dance band called the "Goldbricks."

It was while attending Peru that he wrote the song.

Today's convocation features French film

The movie "Crime Et Chatiment" will be shown this afternoon at 1 o'clock in the auditorium.

The French picture is the second of a series of four popular movies to be presented by the Committee on Convocations.

The movie's plot deals with the murder of an old money-lender and the clever manner in which the police expose the murderer.

No admission will be charged.

Applications due now

Students expecting to receive degrees, associate titles or teacher's certificates this spring have been asked to file applications in the Registrar's Office.

Class activity is off for Juniors

No Junior Class activity will be held.

This was the decision of Robert Rumery, class president, and class sponsors J. D. Tyson and J. G. McMillan, after only one-sixth of the Junior Class voted on the activities.

Of the 64 ballots cast the majority favored a junior-senior semi-formal prom.

Because so few voted on Wednesday, balloting was extended to Thursday with no better results. Considering the slight interest and the cost of the prom (about $200), the activity was cancelled.

"This situation is unfortunate," said Rumery. "If in the near future sufficient interest is expressed in an activity within the means of the class, these activities will be reconsidered."

Bail to speak at convocation

"Wanted: Men who----"

No, it isn't a classified advertisement, it's the theme of President Bail's speech to students at the President's Convocation Thursday morning at 9:30.

President Bail will cover four points in his speech: men who are well educated; have a desire to work; believe in a great cause and who have developed an appreciation of quality performance.

Morning classes will run in the following order:

8; 8:45; 10:30 and 11:15.

Music for the program will be furnished by tenor soloist Robert Cahill; pianist Jacqueline Geilus and a male quartet which includes Alex Morar, Harold Elsasser, Harry Langdon and Robert Duckworth.

Cafeteria prices here lower than others in survey

Cafeteria food prices at OU are low.

The cost of food items here are lower than those of seven other midwest and far west universities, according to a recent survey made by Charles Hoff, OU finance secretary.

By correspondence, and through his recent business trips, Hoff checked on these schools: University of Iowa, University of Chicago, University of Nebraska, University of Southern California, Iowa State College, University of Kansas City and the University of Utah.

A comparison of meat prices show that roast beef, pork or veal costs an Omaha student 28 cents while students at the other six schools pay from 30 cents up to 48 cents. One school is under the OU figure with a charge of 18 cents.

Swiss steak low here Hamburger steak varies from five to seven cents. OU charges 25 cents; others 18 to 32 cents.

Twenty-eight cents will buy Swiss steak here, but other universities pay 30 to 55 cents.

An egg salad sandwich here and at two other schools cost the purchaser 15 cents. The cost at the other schools is five to ten cents more.

OU's seven-cent milk charge is low with other schools one to three cents above. Soup costs at OU compare favorably. Eight cents here, five to 15 cents elsewhere.

Adwers sees 'daisy' of a blizzard heading in this direction in March

By Ed Cutler

Spring, which is always "just around the corner," is going to stay in that warm, snug place for quite some time.

It's going to remain in hiding there to avoid those wintry blasts which Jack Adwers, buildings and grounds superintendent, is sure are coming in the month of March.

Using records of past years as a barometer, Adwers concludes that we can expect at least one "big, husky March storm."

Last year, for instance, twenty seven inches of snow fell in that month. The coldest day last winter was March 11, when the temperature was 16 below, he pointed out.

All this doesn't make Adwers any too happy. In fact, it probably makes him downright sad, for his

Nadyne Alley is queen; Steinman, Green also place

Brown haired, blue eyed freshman Nadyne Alley gained the crown of 1949 Tomahawk Beauty Queen, while her sorority, Pi Omega Pi, swept the top three positions in the contest Friday-afternoon.

Her sorority sisters, auburn haired Marilee Steinman and blonde Betsy Green, were named second and third place winners, respectively. Miss Steinman is a senior and Miss Green is a junior.

Bandleader Tex Beneke, one of the three contest judges, presented Miss Ally with one dozen red roses. She also received a gold bracelet from Tomahawk Editor Judy Rutherford.

The misses Steinman and Green were given gold scatter pins by the other two judges, Mrs. Glen Cunningham and Mr. Harry Bruner.

Overtime threatens

The two-hour contest threatened to go into an overtime because the judges had such a difficult time choosing the three winners from the 54 coed contestants.

Four coeds, instead of the usual three, were picked for the final judging. They included the three winners plus attractive, dark haired Mary Claire McBride.

The three judges agreed that picking a winner was "hard work." Bandleader Beneke commented, "It was a heck of a job to pick the three best. They were all beautiful." While judging Miss Green, he commented that she reminded him of Rita Hayworth.

Enters Drake Test

Queen Nadyne will now be entered in the contest to choose a queen for the Drake Relays, to be held April 29 and 30. Her photographs and application will be submitted to the "Quak," Drake University yearbook, for judging.

Sigma Chi Omicron sorority, which has won the yearly contest since its organization in 1938, did not place a member among the winners this year.

The contestants this year were identified by number. They stood on a turntable in the center of the stage during judging. Tomahawk editor Judy Rutherford acted as narrator and mistress of ceremonies.

Co-director for the program was Dolores Hughes. Charles Farnham managed the special lighting effects. Donna Roessig and Diana Fielding provided piano music for the occasion.

is the responsibility for keeping roads, walks and parking areas on the campus clear of snow.

So, while he admits that he has been "ready for spring for a long time," Adwers gloomily predicts that "we're in for a daisy" of a blizzard next month.

But then, on the other hand, he could be wrong.

Power of the petition

Tomahawk Editor Judy Rutherford, who had taken out four petitions for the yearbook's beauty contest last week ran into a new angle on Wednesday.

She had to get a special petition to get the key to open the piano to use the piano keyboard in the auditorium.

Mothers' seminar to be held this afternoon

The first of a series of tea-lectures for mothers on the selection of books for children will be given this afternoon from 2 to 4.

Miss Frances Edwards, of the Child Study Service at the university, will give the first of the series on "Why Should I Read to My Child."

The seminar has been arranged by the School of Adult Education of the university of Omaha, in cooperation with the Omaha University Library and the Omaha Public Library.

Speech group makes journey to Fremont

Members of a university speech class journeyed to Fremont Sunday to present a choral speech program, "Life Beat of Liberty."

They gave the program at the First Methodist Church during a District Youth Rally. About 300 college, high school, and grade school youths attended the rally.

Speech instructor J. D. Tyson was in charge of the Fremont trip. Students who participated: Bonita Sands, Carolyn Ashby, Beverly Pessen, Joe Liggett, Bill Tyffe, Lois Brady, Eileen Wolfe, Art Westergard, Dean Swanson, Dick Fowler, Charles Budka, and John Lee.

The program will be repeated at a DAR meeting in Omaha next Tuesday.

Woman journalist to speak at night class

A woman who has succeeded in a predominately masculine field will speak to the Country Weekly class this evening.

She is Mrs. May Yard, Omaha, the only woman of the Western Newspaper Union's 55 branches. Mrs. Yard will discuss the part the Western Newspaper Union plays in the weekly newspaper field.

Final World Affairs session held Thursday

Taking Sweden as a typical Scandinavian nation, Chancellor R. G. Gustavson of the University of Nebraska summarized the characteristics and contributions of the Scandinavian races, at the final session of the Institute of World Affairs, Thursday night.

"One of their chief contributions to the world is the example they set of applying science to their problems of food and raw materials, instead of seeking to conquer others to increase their supply," he said.

Chancellor Gustavson recently returned from a visit to the Scandinavian countries.

During World War II, he acted as liaison officer for the University of Chicago and the War Department on operations of the Argonne National Laboratory. It was in this laboratory that the atomic bomb was finished.

Scene: Gateway Office at 4 in the afternoon one October day 1948. A group of the newspaper's editorial staff gathers to discuss the possibilities of resurrecting a year-old fight song contest.

First Voice: I don't think we should sponsor a failure. If we didn't get a song after a year's try, how can we expect to secure one now.

Second Voice: An increase in the prize money and an invitation to outsiders to submit entries should do the trick.

First Voice: I doubt it, but it's worth the try.

Chorus of Voices: Yes! Yes! Agreed. It is worth shooting at, but—

With these words the curtain drops on a note of skepticism.

Last Thursday, five months later, the air of skepticism disappeared. Five excellent songs were presented to a convocation audience for final judging. Minutes later, Omaha U had its long-sought-after fight song. The campaign was a success.

What made it a success?

The hard work, interest, cooperation and help of persons like these: Ollie Joiner, Al Marsh, B. V. Pawloski, Sears Nelson, "Anonymous" and other composers who submitted compositions to the contest.

New chem lab holds open house

Students got a view of OU's new chemistry lab at the Chemistry Department's open house Wednesday.

The new lab was designed by Paul J. Stageman, chemistry instructor. Convenience and accessibility were major factors in the plans.

A special feature of the lab is a new type of hood to remove unpleasant odors. The lab is also the university's first to have both AC and DC electrical outlets.

Located in room, 441, and accommodating up to 12 students, the lab is the first step in the expansion of the Chemistry Department.

The lab now occupies what was formerly the home ec sewing lab. The room was recently repaired, plastered and painted.

Committee of Martin W. Bush, Richard Duncan, V. J. Kennedy, Virgil Sharpe and Mrs. Olga Strimple. Mrs. Mildred Gearhart, Roderic B. Crane and Robert L. Mossholder, faculty members who served as judges at the convocation.

The Student Council, the Omaha U Band and Chorus and—to the student body, which turned out in force to make the final selection of the song that will help boost the Indians in the sport wars to come.

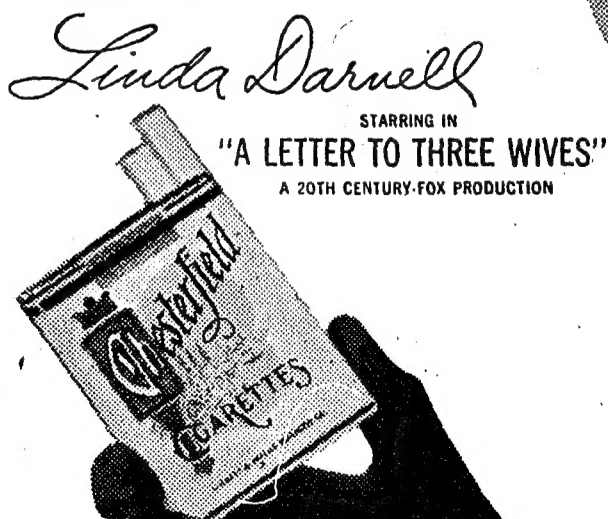

To these persons The Gateway and the Alumni Association say, "Thanks."

A special bouquet goes to Lois Brady, Gateway editorial writer, whose idea started the contest wheels to turn once more.

MAKE YOURS THE MILDER CIGARETTE

MORE COLLEGE STUDENTS SMOKE CHESTERFIELDS THAN ANY OTHER CIGARETTE—BY LATEST NATIONAL SURVEY

Salerno's torrid streak subdues Indian third period surge, 50-42

Omaha's Guy Oberg just manages to clear Creighton Captain Subby Salerno's block on this shot—which scored. Jays Jim Karabatsos (60) and Frank Gilchrist (63) and Ernie Flecky of Omaha get set for a rebound which never came.—Gateway photo by Dick Hill.

For a few brief minutes Thursday night it looked as if Omaha U was going to pull an upset, but Creighton power led by Subby Salerno had other ideas.

The Creightonians went home with a 50-42 win and their sixth triumph in as many starts against the Indians.

Coach Don Pflasterer's crew moved within six points of the hot Bluejays in the third period, 32-26. But Salerno then went to work and the Indian surge was subdued.

Captain Subby potted three straight one handers in that third quarter and the Jays held on to their margin till the horn sounded.

Last minute baskets by Don Fitch and Walter Matejka saved the OU squad from a rout. Behind, 29-16 at the half, Coach Pflasterer's outfit began to shake the jitters in the second half and they outscored the Jays during the last 20 minutes.

The Red and Black didn't know what to do with the ball during the first half. Creighton's terrific zone defense was so tight that the Indians had to be content with long one handers.

Coupled with this was the fact the Hilltoppers made nearly 75 per cent of their shots during that time.

Salerno led the Creighton attack with 16 points. Stocky Jim Karabatsos, former OU star, set up most of the Bluejay plays and held the team together defensively.

Ernie Flecky, former Creighton star, led his Indian mates with ten points. Glen Richter scored the first six Omaha points and then settled down to play an all around good game.

Falstaff icemen win hockey title

OU's hockey squad lost their last chance of gaining a tie for first place Wednesday night when the best they could manage was a 1-1 tie with the Russell skaters.

The league-leading Falstaff crew cinched first place with a win over cellar-dwelling Harveys. The win gave the Brewers a total of 15 points, a three point margin over the second place Indians.

With only one game remaining, a clash with Falstaff tomorrow night, the Indians cannot possibly gain a tie even by winning.

Little scoring

Wednesday night's tilt with Russells saw little scoring but a lot of rough play.

The Omahans scored first in the second period. Tom Jauss hit the net on an assist from Jim Wharton. Russells tied it up two minutes later and from then on both goalies thwarted every attempt.

Freddie Abboud and Sam Minardi added color to the scoreless third period with the type of fight that is rapidly departing from hockey. Both boys drew five minutes in the sin-bin for fighting.

Frat five falls as Vikes retain 'mural cage title

Alpha Sig's wicked fast break almost ended the North Viking's hold on the intramural cage crown Wednesday, but the Norsemen staged a last half drive to down the frat men 37-32 and retain the championship.

The Vike's defense, centered around big Rene Hlavac, was tight once it was set up, but the fast breaking Sigers out-ran the slower Vikes for the most part of the first half.

Alpha Sigs started fast in the first period, getting a bucket on the tip-off. Behind the sharpshooting of Vern Shires and Pee-Wee Schultz, they swept to a 13-9 first period lead and a 19-15 margin at intermission.

Vikes roar back

The Vikes roared back in the third quarter and tied the score at 19 all on baskets by Ed Harper and Gordie Severa. The Sigers went ahead again on a two-pointer by Shires and led 27-25 at the three-quarter mark.

The final period was all North as the Vikings out-passed and out-shot the frat club by a wide margin. George Kostal, Lynn Hooton, Severa, Hlavac, and Harper all hit buckets for the Vikes to ice the ball game, 37-32.

Hooton put on a show of his own with some fancy dribbling as the Vikes stalled the final minutes of the tilt.

Harper was high for North with 10 markers while Shires paced the fratmen with 11.

Alpha Sigs rally

Undeclared Alpha Sigs had to stage a second half rally to down a determined Central High intramural squad, 28-26, last week.

The victory enabled the fraternity boys to advance into the finals with North, which dropped Tech, 28-19.

Central, playing inspired ball, set an iron ring around their basket and held the high scoring Alpha five to eight points during the first half. Fred Pisasale led the Eagles to their 12-8 halftime edge by pouring in eight points.

But Alpha Sigs took command in the second period and slowly forged ahead. Bob Peterson and Ed Van Steenberg spearheaded the winner's attack. Peterson picked up eight of his ten points in the second half drive.

OU grapplers drop St. Ambrose squad

By Mark Gautier

Wrestling at the University of Omaha appears here to stay.

The well-filled auditorium of wrestling enthusiasts who turned out Saturday night to watch the Indian matmen down St. Ambrose College despite bad weather conditions attests to this.

The clamoring crowd watched Coach Allie Morrison's squad sweep six of eight regulation matches and one of two exhibition matches in racking up the first mat win of the school's history, 22-8.

Stocky Charlie Mancuso, team captain and 165 lb. grappler, brought the crowd roaring to its feet early in his match with St. Ambrose's John Grothus.

Mancuso pins

In perhaps the best match of the evening to watch, the hard-working Omahan slammed Grothus to the mat in less than thirty seconds, and the St. Ambrosian was literally "out for the count."

Since no fall can be registered after a man is hurt, Charlie had to do it all over again. After Grothus had sufficiently recovered, Mancuso proceeded to flip his head-taller opponent all over the mat. He finally pinned him in 4:54.

Little Rich Nigro nearly pulled an upset in his 121 lb. match with the undefeated Harry Dexter. Nigro managed to cut the red-head's lead to 5-4 by coming out from under and getting behind the St. Ambrosian just as the first period ended.

Holst first winner

He then proceeded to hold Dexter in check for the whole second period in a beautiful exhibition of riding, but he failed himself to get out in the third period and the St. Ambrosian salvaged the match.

Dick Holst had the honor of being the first Indian to win a regulation match in college competition. Holst decided Dick Simmons in a hard-fought match, 4-0.

In another hard-fought match, Bill Fuiks out-mauled Charles Logic in the 175 lb. class. Omaha fans suffered a few anxious moments toward the end of the match as the tiring Kuiks was dangerously near being pinned. Summaries:

121—Harry Dexter, St. Ambrose, decided Dick Simmons, 5-4.
128—Thomas Lara, OU, won by forfeit.

136—Richard Holst, OU, decided Dick Simmons, 4-0.

145—Fred Pisasale, OU, decided Jim Hartman, 6-0.

155—Bob Kriss, OU, decided Milt Caffery, 7-0.

165—Charles Mancuso, OU, threw John Grothus, in 4:54.

175—William Fuiks, OU, decided Charles Logic, 11-4.

Hvt.—Art Michalik, St. Ambrose, threw Howie Byram, in 3:36.

Exhibition—Dick Coleson, St. Ambrose, threw Tom Lara, in 1:36.

Exhibition—Reuben Pierce, OU, decided Paul Gebhardt, 7-2.

Papooses drop final tilt, 48-36

Creighton's freshman cage squad snapped a 12 game Papoose winning streak Thursday night on the Bluejay floor, 48-36.

Coach Charlie Brock's five jumped into a 20-20 halftime tie, but Guard Jim Travis spoiled the Junior Indian bid as he hit four long set shots early in the second half.

Travis' unconscious baskets took the fire out of the Papooses and the Bluejay team widened its margin during the final stanza.

It was the final tilt of the season for the Papooses and gave them a terrific season's record of 12 wins and two losses. The losses, to CU and Doane, were avenged earlier in the season.

Joe Cupich and Herb Sklenar were high point makers for the Papooses with nine.

STORE-Y LOOKS

In the pink—that's the "bold look" in men's shirts. But that's not all. There's a high-color range from heliotrope and lime to turquoise and wine.

No sporty numbers these. Their detailed workmanship includes French cuffs to show off your favorite cuff links.

You'll find them in most any downtown men's store for about $3.95. That is if there are any left. The demand's greater than the supply these days.

Strictly personal are Mary Duhill's initialed lipsticks. A variety of lipstick shades come in these bright red, black or white cases. They're adorned with milady's two initials in bold gold letters... well worth the original $2.00 plus tax, since refills are obtainable.

Smoke gets in your eyes. But you won't mind if its from a pipe filled with Mixture No. 79. The men claim it's the smoothest, mildest smoke yet, and the gals go for its wonderful aroma. You'll find it in 8-ounce tins at a local smoke shop for $1.25.

You'll really be "tied" up in the new men's look when you see the "tarong." "Tie's" a figure of speech in this case for there's no knot in this neckwear. Designed for sportswear, it drapes across the front and hooks under each collar point. It's yours in the gayest of pure silk prints for $2.50.

The flowers that bloom in the spring have nothing on the new daffodil yellow denim materials. Time was when denim meant faded blue jeans, but this new treatment makes the fabric adaptable for everything from pedal pushers to sundresses with dainty eyelet trim. Prices range from $2.98 for sun-tops to $8.98 for the dresses.

Gamma Pi Sigma's celebrate birthday

A birthday cake—two feet across and 12 inches thick—featured last Wednesday's anniversary dinner given by the Alpha chapter of Gamma Pi Sigma, national chemistry fraternity.

The double-layered extravaganza was topped with 21 candles. Several charter members returned for the faculty clubroom affair and read telegrams and letters from others.

Dr. Harold Wittcoff, research chemist for General Mills, Inc. Minneapolis, was guest speaker. He spoke on techniques of the protective coating process.

The 70 guests included members of Gamma Pi Sigma, the Omaha chapter and Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society, and the chemistry club.

Marshall Ruchte, senior and president of the organization, was chairman.

Dynamic group sees movie about 'barriers'

"A line is only an idea" was the central thought of a movie shown at Thursday's meeting of the Association for the Study of Group Dynamics.

The film, "Boundary Lines," dealt with barriers caused by race, poverty and fear. The underlying theme was that a line (idea) may divide or unite a group. Discussion of techniques for achieving unity in a group followed the showing.

"Individualizing the Group" will be discussed by Edythe Hall, Kelom grade school principal, at the March 10 meeting.

Warriors entertain Feathers at party

Warriors played host to the Feathers and cheerleaders from 8 p. m. till midnight Friday in Pow Wow Inn.

The combination business meeting and party was to promote general relations between the two student pep organizations.

Bill Fear was disc-jockey for a night, contributing music for dancers.

The Inn was decorated with the pep clubs' colors, red and white. Refreshments were served at the intermission to the estimated fifty persons that attended.

Beta's 'spring' into 'fevered' dance plan

The Beta Tau Kappa's are all in a "Spring Fever." But it's not a malady; it's a dance.

APO ends job

The Alpha Theta chapter of Alpha Phi Omega, National service fraternity, recently redecorated the south side YMCA. The work included washing, plastering, repainting, and waxing. New curtains were also purchased.

Bill Maloy, youth director of the south side YMCA, a junior, supervised the operations.

Social Register

A pledge entertainment night was planned by the Sig Chi's at their meeting Wednesday.

The party will be held tonight at the home of June Conrad. Refreshments will be served following the pledges' endeavors at amusing their actives.

The Home Economics Club will meet Thursday at 5:30 p. m. to discuss plans for the State Home Economics Convention.

The group will gather in the faculty clubroom for dinner before the meeting.

Formal initiation of Theta Phi Deltas will be held tomorrow, it was decided at a meeting last Wednesday.

Twenty pledges will be initiated in ceremonies at 7 p. m. in the faculty clubroom.

Faculty women to hear Mrs. Kingman

Mrs. Eugene Kingman, wife of the director of the Joslyn Memorial, will speak on certain phases of anthropology at the March meeting of the Faculty Women's Club.

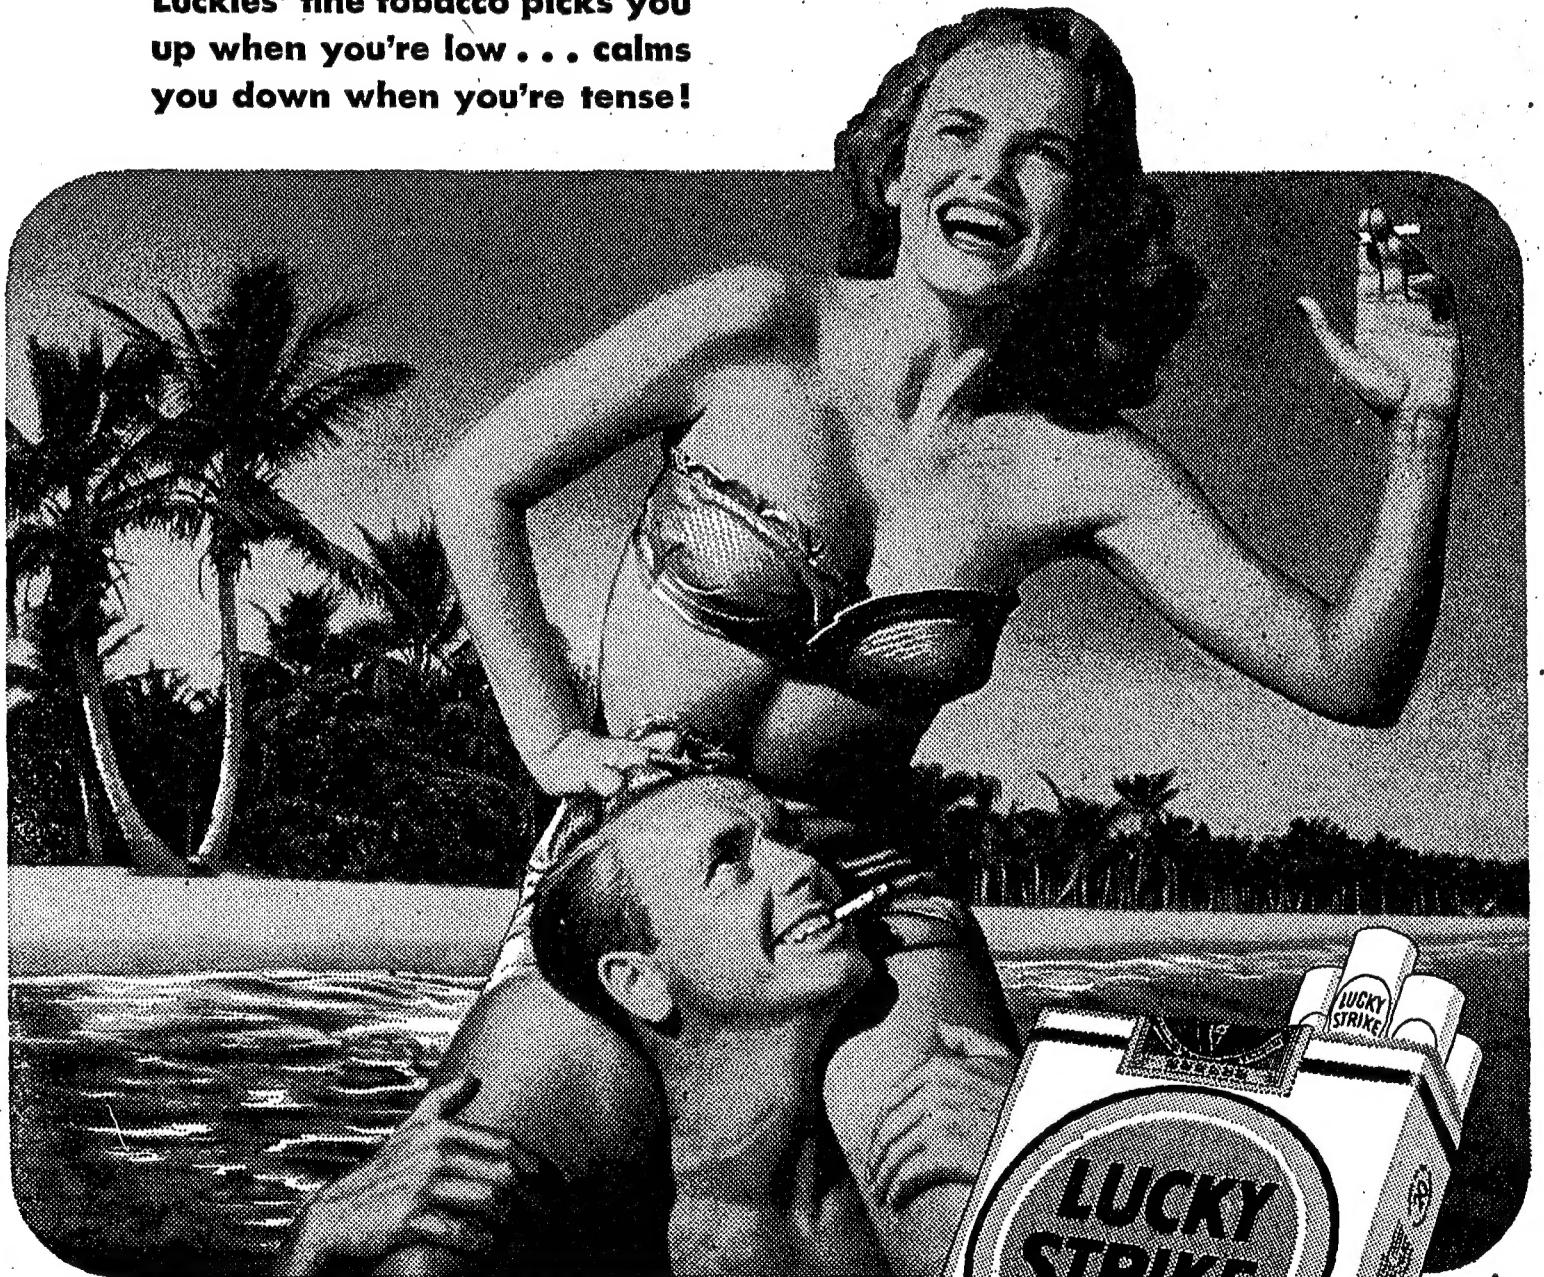

The meeting will be held on Thursday at 4 p. m. in the faculty clubroom.

Following the program, tea will be served. Hostesses will be Miss Gertrude Kincaide, chairman; Miss Hedvig Nyholm, Mrs. L. A. Frye, Mrs. L. O. Taylor, Mrs. C. H. Prewett, and Mrs. J. G. Somny.

All women faculty members and faculty wives are invited to become members of the organization, according to Mrs. Claude Thompson, president. Meetings are held the first Thursday of each month.
